Adalbert Stifter
Illustrated by Maja Dusíková
ROCK CRYSTAL

Age 3+ / 30 pp. / 20.4 x 29.7 cm / full-colour
hardcover with Wibalín (linen texture) and embossing

- by famous austrian author Adalbert Stifter, retold and adapted by Anita Sansone Cotti
- illustrated by Maja Dusíková artist of „The Story about the Christmas Bell“

Adalbert Stifter's story is much more than a classic christmas tale. The story of two siblings that get lost in the mountains but luckily are found and in the end return back home safely is loved by many readers of all generations. It is about prejudices, solidarity and – of course – the magic of Christmas.

SPAGHETTI ALL DAY EVERYDAY

Written and illustrated by Lucia Zamolo

Age 12+ / 120 pages / 16 x 22 cm / full-colour
flexicover

- successful author of *Red is beautiful
- topic: origin, identity, family, migration

Like the first two books by Lucia Zamolo this story is a mix of her personal experiences, conversations with friends, but also facts.

»Yes, but where do you originally come from?«

This question is one of the most beginnings of a conversation because people guess by Lucia's name and her appearance, that she's maybe not born and grown up in Germany.

Like so many other people she is judged by the fact that she seems to be not typical central European, whatever that means.

How long does it take to accept a multicultural society? Why does everybody think of a big Mafia-related family with black hair and brown eyes eating Spaghetti every day, when she talks about her Italian family? Although she has only three blond Italian relatives, speaking Friulian, not Italian. Should she reveal that the best Italian pasta sauce ever (quotation of a friend) was not a secret recipe by her father, but a prepared sauce bought in a German supermarket?

Zamolo talks about prejudices, about sorrows and incomprehension, about what it is like to be categorised as a person with a migration background or even not. How to be raised to fulfill people's expectation, just by repeating every day and how friends found their way to cope with every day matters.

Serious thoughts and much humour, true stories and political statements in her very own charming style.

ELEFANT ON CHEST

OR: WHY IT'S WORTH TO GET YOUR HEART BROKEN

Written and illustrated by Lucia Zamolo
ELEFANT ON CHEST

Age 10+ / 96 pages / 16 x 22 cm / full-colour flexicover

- successful author of *Red is beautiful
- topic: broken heart, loneliness, friendship, family and selflove

This book is inspired by personal conversations and observations made by the author. Just like the first book it is a mixture of funny but also sad moments describing what it is like to deal with lovesickness – which feels like a big elephant is sitting on your chest. Of course, there is no general way how to heal a broken heart and most of the times it is a very hard period in your life but you also learn a lot about yourself and, moreover, you realise: you are not alone! Romantic love is not the only kind of love in life. There are friends and family and pets – and this book!

• topic: coming out and homophobic discrimination

»When I say fag I am not talking about you.« »Hasn't there been done so much lately? You are even allowed to marry now!« It seems like homophobia does not play a major role in Western societies.
But appearances are deceptive. Homophobic language is not always used consciously and that is the problem.
Such comments are still part of my everyday life –
and they still hurt.

The author writes about personal experiences and his black and white illustrations convey emotions that come along with discriminative language.

HUNNY, BUNNY OD SUNNY?

Age 3+ / 36 pp. / 20,9 x 29,4 cm /
full-colour / hardcover

The three young rabbits Hunny, Bunny and Sunny look exactly the same. Even their mother has difficulties to keep them apart. And of course they have fun in tricking others by ... That is why they have difficulties in making friends as the other animals want to know who is who! After an expedition however the three rabbits realise: they may look alike but also they are somehow unique. Just like their friends the squirrel, the fox and the hedgehog.
